

The FISTS proposal regarding code requirements for amateur radio has the characteristics I feel are important: Drop the element 1 (code) requirement for the lowest level(s) of license, but retain it for the highest level(s). Include testing on subject matter relating to digital modes.